

I wrote this after seeing a performance of my youngest granddaughter as she helped present a children's version of "Cats" to an audience of built-in admirers (parents, Grandparents, siblings). I enjoyed her stage presence and enthusiasm and I parallel-enjoyed the reactions of the audience. In an age of sadness and depression, it was a glowing moment of hope for the future.